4. During the interregnum, the one of assessee namely, M/s.Kubota Agricultural Machinery India Private Limited had preferred appeal before CESTAT, South Zonal Bench, Chennai against the order passed by the Commissioner of Customs (Appeals) on the subsequent imports made by it. The Division Bench of CESTAT by its order dated 02.06.2017 in “M/s.Kubota Agricultural Machinery India Private Limited Vs. Commissioner of Customs, Chennai-IV”, 2017 SCC OnLine CESTAT 4916 in Final Order Nos.40889 to 40898 of 2017, allowed the appeals in favour of the assessee.

5. The Division Bench of CESTAT, South Zonal Bench, Chennai in “M/s.Kubota Agricultural Machinery India Private Limited Vs. Commissioner of Customs, Chennai-IV”, 2017, SCC Online CESTAT 4916, held as under:-

<https://www.mhc.tn.gov.in/judis> (Uploaded on: 07/06/2025 08:24:52 pm) W.P.No.1216 of 2021 etc., batch “7. In view of the discussion herein above and also following the ratios laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Vazir Sultan Tobacco Co. Ltd. and subsequent judgments cited supra and also the ratio of the Tribunal in Gazal Overseas (supra), the appeals filed by the appellants above succeed. It is held that the appellant have discharged appropriate sales tax/VAT for the sale of the goods imported by them. As such the refund claimed by them under Notification No. 102/2007-Cus. cannot be denied to them, as long as the appellants are able to establish that nil VAT/Sales Tax was required to be discharged on the impugned goods. With regard to the mismatch of documents alleged, we find on perusal of records that the adjudicating authority has correlated VAT/Sales Tax with the goods sold and the Chartered Accountant certificate. Therefund has been rejected as VAT/Sales Tax/CST is not paid in the invoices.

8. In the result, the impugned orders are set aside and the appeals are allowed with consequential relief, if any, as per law.” 5A. Earlier, the Customs, Excise and Service Tax Appellate Tribunal (CESTAT) in “M/s.Kubota Agricultural Machinery India Pvt.

Ltd., Vs. Commissioner of Customs, Chennai-IV”, in its Order No.41872 of 2016 dated 10.10.2016 had now held there cannot be any refund of SAD on the ground that where VAT is “Nil” with respect to the imported goods.

22. The learned Senior Standing Counsel for the Respondents has also placed reliance on the following decisions of the Kerala High Court and that of this Court:-

i. Elite Green Pvt. Ltd., Vs. Under Secretary, Ministry of Finance, (Customs-III/VI/Government of India, New Delhi, 2023 (386) E.L.T. 245 (Ker.) ii. Shakun Overseas Ltd., Vs. Parmar International, Represented by its Managing Director in W.A.Nos.927 of 2013 etc., batch dated 25.04.2022.

23. I have considered the arguments advanced by the learned counsel for the Petitioners and the learned Senior Standing Counsel for the Respondents.

24. In this connection, a reference is made to the following decisions of the Hon'ble Supreme Court, Bombay High Court and that of this Court:-

i. Union of India and others Vs. B.T.Patil & Sons, Belgaum (Construction) Private Limited, (2024) 3 SCC 645 ii. Ajay Industrial Corporation Ltd. Vs. Deputy Commissioner of Customs, 2024 SCC OnLine Bom 3324 iii. Karnataka Power Corporation Limited Vs. Commissioner of Customs, 2023 (383) E.L.T. 528 (Mad.) / (2022) 1 Centax 81 (Mad.)

25. In “Union of India and others Vs. B.T.Patil & Sons, Belgaum (Construction) Private Limited”, (2024) 3 SCC 645, involving refund of duty drawback, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held as under:-

<https://www.mhc.tn.gov.in/judis> (Uploaded on: 07/06/2025 08:24:52 pm) W.P.No.1216 of 2021 etc., batch “62. As we have already examined, under sub-section (1) of Section 75-A of the Customs Act, where duty drawback is not paid within a period of three months from the date of filing of claim, the claimant would be entitled to interest in addition to the amount of drawback. This section provides that the interest would be at the rate fixed under Section 27-A from the date after expiry of the said period of three months till the payment of such drawback. If we look at Section 27-A, the interest rate prescribed thereunder at the relevant point of time was not below ten per cent and not exceeding thirty per cent per annum.”

26. In “Ajay Industrial Corporation Ltd. Vs. Deputy Commissioner of Customs”, 2024 SCC OnLine Bom 3324, the Bombay High Court held as under:-

“17. The respondent's contention about the petitioner's case being covered by the explanation to Section 27A is untenable. This is not a case of an order of refund made by the Commissioner (Appeals). The Commissioner (Appeals) only remanded the matter to the respondent, who ultimately ordered the refund. Assuming we were to accept the respondent's contention, the first part of section 27A provides for the order by which the refund arose. Still, the period for calculating interest provided in the later part of the section states that the starting point is the date of application. Therefore, even on this count, no relief could be denied to the Petitioner. Thus, the explanation to Section 27A of the Customs Act does not apply and based upon a distorted interpretation of the same, the respondent cannot avoid payment of interest at the rate of 6% per annum from 04 <https://www.mhc.tn.gov.in/judis> (Uploaded on: 07/06/2025 08:24:52 pm) W.P.No.1216 of 2021 etc., batch September 2014.

23. In the context of Sections 11B and 11BB of the Central Excise Act, the Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Union of India v. Hamdard (Waqf) Laboratories has considered and rejected similar arguments made on behalf of the Revenue. Hon'ble Supreme Court held the liability for the interest payment is statutory, and it is the bounden duty of the Assistant Commissioner to pay interest. Further, the court held that the liability of the Revenue to pay the interest under Section 11BB, which corresponds to Section 27A of the Customs Act, commences from the date of expiry of 3 months from the date of receipt of the application for refund or on the expiry of the said period from the date of which the order of refund is made. Hon'ble Supreme Court followed its earlier decision in the case of Ranbaxy Laboratories Limited v. Union of India.

24. The Delhi High Court's decision in S.R. Polyvinyl Ltd.

v. Commissioner of Customs, which interprets the provisions of the Customs Act, also supports the petitioner's case. On an identical issue, the Karnataka High Court has held that the period for calculating interest would start from the date of application even if a refund arose on account of appeal orders.

25. The decision of the Madras High Court in Global United Shipping India (P) Ltd. v. Assistant Commissioner of Customs (Refund) also supports the petitioner's case. In the context of the provisions of Section 27 and 27A of the Customs Act, it holds that the intention of the legislature clearly spelt out in the <https://www.mhc.tn.gov.in/judis> (Uploaded on: 07/06/2025 08:24:52 pm) W.P.No.1216 of 2021 etc., batch above provision of law was that the interest was liable to be paid after the expiry of three months from the date of receipt of the application for refund and not from the date of passing of the order of refund. The court held that the object behind such provision for the payment from the date of the application was obvious. Once an order of refund is made, the liability to pay the same dates back from the date of its collection. In other words, an amount collected by Revenue without the authority of law or by the erroneous application of the provision of law, if retained by the Revenue all along without having any legal right to retain the same, such collection and retention would amount to unjust enrichment. Thus, liability to return or refund to the person from whom it was collected commences on the day it was demanded and collected. Therefore, when the liability to refund is determined, such liability dates back and commences not from the date of the order for refund but from the date of such collection. Liability to refund begins when it was actually due and not when it is actually determined.

26. The Madras High Court noted that the adjudicating authority imposes interest and penalty on such duty liability when adjudicating the liability. It is not that such duty alone is collected from the importer from the date of adjudication. On the other hand, such liability to pay duty is fastened on such importer from when it becomes due. Therefore, the revenue collects the interest on such overdue duty payments and the penalty for not paying them at the appropriate time. The same analogy is to be applied in the case of a refund while considering the interest payment. That is why Section 27A of the Customs Act was carefully coined for payment of such interest from the expiry of three months from the date of the application and not <https://www.mhc.tn.gov.in/judis> (Uploaded on: 07/06/2025 08:24:52 pm) W.P.No.1216 of 2021 etc., batch from the date of the order.

27. Mr.Adik relied upon the decision of the CESTAT, West Zonal Bench, Mumbai in the case of Commissioner of Customs & GST, Mumbai West v. Juhu Beach Resort Ltd. and the decision of Regional Bench in the case of Commissioner of Customs, Mumbai Import-II v. Forever Living Imports (India) Pvt. Ltd. Both the decisions, apart from they being the decisions of the tribunal, concerned fact situations which are not even remotely comparable to the fact situation in the present petition. Based upon those decisions, therefore, the respondents cannot avoid payment of interest on the delayed refunds.

28. The Commissioner of Customs, Mangaluru Customs v.

JSW Steel Ltd., the division bench of the Karnataka High Court was concerned with the defective application for refund. Accordingly, the contention of the importer that even if the application was defective, that at the most may amount to irregularity and the department cannot avoid payment of interest, was not accepted. In the present case, as noted above, there was no defect in the petitioner's application. No deficiencies were pointed out within the time prescribed under the Regulations or even later. The issue, which was involved before the Karnataka High Court, does not arise in the present petition. Besides, the Karnataka High Court does not appear to have considered the impact of the absence of the provision like Section 244A(2) of the Income Tax Act, 1961 in the Customs Act.

29. In Shakun Overseas Ltd. v. Commissioner of Cus. (Appeals), Chennai, the concerned facts which have no relevance to the issue involved in the present case. In fact, Madras High Court has held that Section 27A <https://www.mhc.tn.gov.in/judis> (Uploaded on: 07/06/2025 08:24:52 pm) W.P.No.1216 of 2021 etc., batch of the Customs Act provides time limit within which the application for refund to be disposed of failing which the assessee would be entitled to claim interest.

30. Thus, on facts and in law, this Petition deserves to succeed. The revenue's entire approach has been far from fair. The petitioner was forced to litigate for the refund's recovery, and after the refund was sanctioned belatedly, the revenue, quite unreasonably, resisted interest payment on the delayed refunds. It is not as if the stakes were high for the revenue. The interest claim of the Petitioner comes to Rs.4,21,940/-.

31. For all the above reasons, we allow this petition and direct the respondent to pay the petitioner the interest amounting to Rs.4,21,940/- on the delayed refund of SAD. The respondent must pay the petitioner this amount within two months of today.

32. Failing this, the respondent is directed to pay the interest at 8% per annum on this amount. This direction for payment at the rate of 8% per annum is without prejudice to any action under the Contempt of Court Act should the respondent willfully and deliberately disobey the direction now made.

33. Further, if Rs.4,21,940/- is not paid within two months from today, additional interest on this amount now ordered will have to be recovered from the officer responsible for the delay instead of burdening the exchequer and, consequently, the taxpayer.

34. The respondent is also directed to pay the petitioner Rs.15,000/- in costs within two months from today.” <https://www.mhc.tn.gov.in/judis> (Uploaded on: 07/06/2025 08:24:52 pm) W.P.No.1216 of 2021 etc., batch

27. In “Karnataka Power Corporation Limited Vs. Commissioner of Customs, 2023 (383) E.L.T. 528 (Mad.) / (2022) 1 Centax 81 (Mad.)”, this Court held as under:-

“12. R2, in the impugned order, has restricted the payment of interest from date of order of CESTAT, which appears contrary to the provisions of Section 27A of the Customs Act, 1962 that deals with claims for refund of duty. Section 27A of the Customs Act reads as follows:-

Section 27A. Interest on delayed refunds. - If any duty ordered to be refunded under sub-section (2) of section 27 to an applicant is not refunded within three months from the date of receipt of application under sub-section (1) of that section, there shall be paid to that applicant interest at such rate, not below five per cent and not exceeding thirty per cent per annum as is for the time being fixed by the Central Government by Notification in the Official Gazette, on such duty from the date immediately after the expiry of three months from the date of receipt of such application till the date of refund of such duty:

Provided that where any duty, ordered to be refunded under sub-section (2) of section 27 in respect of an application under sub-section (1) of that section made before the date on which the Finance Bill, 1995 receives the assent of the President, is not refunded within three months from such date, there shall be paid to the applicant interest under this section from the date immediately after three months from such date, till the date of refund of such duty.

Explanation. - Where any order of refund is made by <https://www.mhc.tn.gov.in/judis> (Uploaded on: 07/06/2025 08:24:52 pm) W.P.No.1216 of 2021 etc., batch the Commissioner (Appeals), Appellate Tribunal, National Tax Tribunal or any court against an order of the Assistant Commissioner of Customs or Deputy Commissioner of Customs under sub-section (2) of section 27, the order passed by the Commissioner (Appeals), Appellate Tribunal, National Tax Tribunal or as the case may be, by the court shall be deemed to be an order passed under that sub-section for the purposes of this section.

13. As per the aforesaid provision, interest is payable from 3 months from date of receipt of the refund application till date of payment. In this case, the date of refund application is 27-8-1994 and in light of the order passed above holding the refund payable, interest would be applicable on the amount to be refunded on accessories in terms of Section 27A, from 3 months from date of refund application till date of payment. The same reasoning would hold good in respect of coils as well.”

28. The issue was re-examined which has now culminated in the respective Impugned Orders which have been passed rejecting part of the refund claims filed under Notification No.102/2007-Cus., dated 14.09.2007. Text of the Notification reads as under:-
